GLOBAL EPROCURE SELECTED TO PRESENT AT PROCURECON 2010

Case Study Presentation Reveals Unique Insights into Perfecting Supply Chain Practices

CLARK, NJ – September 7, 2010 – Global eProcure, a leader in procurement services for Fortune 500 and Global 2000 companies, today announced it will be co-presenting with Saint-Gobain at ProcureCon 2010 (Trinity Ballroom), Wednesday, September 15, 2010, 8:50-9:20 am, Omni Dallas Hotel Park West, Dallas, TX. Titled Enabling a Successful Procurement Transformation Journey – A case study with Saint-Gobain Corporation, the presentation will reveal the best practices used by Saint-Gobain to reduce costs and operate more efficiently by refining and perfecting procurement and supply chain practices. In addition, Global eProcure will be showcasing products and services for procurement at ProcureCon (Booth #9).

Recognized in the Challengers position for Gartner's 2010 Magic Quadrant for Strategic Sourcing Application Suites, Global eProcure offers a blend of strategic consulting and implementation, outsourcing services, as well as commercial, off-the-shelf procurement tools and technology solutions. Global eProcure utilizes its unique approach to help large enterprises streamline complex organizational frame-works.

Underscoring this transformation, Mary Chantry, North American Sourcing Manager for Saint-Gobain, will join Santosh Nair, Consulting Director for Global eProcure to highlight key deliverables and milestones that enable a successful transformation.

“High performing organizations recognize the strategic importance of procurement and the need to continuously evolve on this procurement transformation journey. Our focus has always enabled this transformation to be implemented as effectively and efficiently as possible,” stated Subhash Makhija, CEO for Global eProcure.
