Clark, New Jersey, February 17, 2010

Global eProcure announced today that they have been recognized with a 2009 “Most Valuable Partner Award” by R.J. Reynolds. The annual award gives R.J. Reynolds the opportunity to share their opinions on “the best” in many categories of business.

R.J. Reynolds cited Global eProcure as being collaborative and flexible to work with and acknowledged the impact Global eProcure made in streamlining processes, improving strategic category management, and delivering bottom-line cost savings.

“We thank R.J. Reynolds for this wonderful honor,” said Subhash Makhija, CEO of Global eProcure. Our relationship has been very positive as we work collaboratively with the RJR team to continue to identify ways to help reduce the company's overall operating costs and improve overall supplier performance. This recognition is a testament to the truly unique capabilities and services GeP brings in the procurement outsourcing arena.”

Global eProcure and R.J. Reynolds's association began in early 2009 when Global eProcure was brought on board as part of a strategic global purchasing initiative to outsource its management of marketing products, marketing services, MRO and related spend. R.J. Reynolds continues to implement additional tools and training to achieve similar sourcing results in other categories.
